Patricia is a highly respected humanitarian and human rights advocate with experience in project design and delivery. She has been a Creators of Peace Facilitator for the past 5 years, but prior to that, worked for many years as a humanitarian worker in conflict affected countries of Afghanistan, Bosnia, Kosovo, Rwanda, Sudan, and Thai Burma Border, primarily assisting refugee women and children.

Patricia has seen first-hand how inequality and the lack of education has dehumanising effects on women and children all around the world, and it is her wish to leave a legacy of educating and empowering girls and establishing women led communities. She believes there is a real sense of urgency to address this in our world in global crisis. If we don't come together as women now, we won't be able to deal with it in the future. The time is now!

Patricia will ask us to share and exchange views on:

- If you were in her place, what would you do?
- How can we address gender equality; invest more in girls' education and women's leadership?
- How can we as Creators of Peace grow relationships, and connect with networks to form partnerships working in solidarity with women.
- In this our 30th year, Creators of Peace has celebrated all we've achieved. What more can we as an organisation do, to help create a more just and equal future?
- What ideas might we put into action?

Let's channel our thoughts to create a sense of hope
